1. Love for the en-e-my, ab-hor-ring,

good for the ev-il they're out-pour-ing,

help for the boss-es you would bless,

prayer for the blind who pay you less...

Lest you're the vic-tim of re-sis-tance,

eye for an eye, at their in-sis-tence,

in good-ness for their bad ex-cel,
show them the 'oth-er cheek' as well.

2. If you can on-ly love by feel-ing, where is the cre-dit in the deal-ing?

Deal with the oth-ers, o-ver-due,

as you de-si-re they with you.

This would you see in low-ly sin-ners,

those in their "lov-ing mere be-gin-ners.

And if you lend to ones who give what high-er way is that to live?

p. 2/4 Luke 6

3. Aim your re-spect at op-po-si-tion, don't be im-pos-ing some con-di-tion.

Loss of your tun-ic's not a threat,

as in for-giv-ing of a debt.

God is com-plete-ly sure of kind-ness,

Knows not un-grate-ful-ness or blind-ness.

With mer-cy treat a friend who owes,

just like a type your Fa-ther shows.

4. Grant them the court-e-asy of par-don, straight from a heart that does-n't har-den.

Let those in heav-en man-age harm,

trust in your Fath-er's might-y arm.

Give from the cof-fers of your trea-sure,

so to be-hold, in full-est mea-sure,

the gifts that come to fill your lap,

pressed down and shak-en ev-ery scrap.
