1. Says the Lord: they have mer-cy with their par-don,
those who sur-vived the des-ert get a gar-den.
I, like a Fath-er, saw them from a-far,
moved by my pit-y, march-ing on a par.
Love is the way I'm giv-ing you cor-rec-tion,
still I con-tin-ue on with such af-fec-tion,
no long-er thought a vir-gin un-ful-filled,
towns un-der-way with tim-ber you had milled.

2. Out you'll go, up to E-phra-im, ad-vanc-ing,
once more a-dorned, with tam-bour-ines and danc-ing,
Those who can till will plant it by the shoot,
reap at the har-vest, es-ti-mate the fruit.
Light like a dawn of ea-ger-ness is break-ing,
up in the moun-tains watch-men are a-wak-ing.
Fair be the feet that ex-it with the news,
news that is good, to nour-ish and en-thuse.

5. Hear my word, all you na-tions far and dis-tant,
tell this to ev-ery is-land, be in-sis-tent:
/ who have scat-tered Is-ra-el will walk
next to my peo-ple, shep-herd-ing my flock.
You who a-dore the neigh-bor-hood of Zi-on,
Speed right a-long, be roar-ing like a li-on.
New wine and oil with an-i-mals that plow
en-ter a-noth-er E-den, start-ing now.

7. Ram-ah hears this a-ton-al bit-ter weep-ing,
yes, it is Ra-chel such a vig-il keep-ing.
Leave her in mourn-ing, noth-ing can re-store
sounds of her child-ren, hear-ing them no more.
Stop your la-ment-ing, suf-fer-ing e-ject-ed,
pain ful-ly paid, your mis-er-y cor-rect-ed,
saved from the foe your sons, for whom you cried,
hope af-ter all in homes where they'll a-bide.

8. "Dis-ci-pline was a ther-a-py I've tak-en,
you are my Shep-herd-God whom I'd for-sak-en.
Just like a calf I could-n't help but moan.
Please bring me back, my read-i-ness has grown.
Yes, had I turned a-way, but since re-pent-ed,
beat on my thighs for ev-il's un-pre-vent-ed,
stamped with dis-grace I car-ried from my youth,
shamed and con-fused by sem-blanc-es of truth.'

10. How much more would you hes-i-tate, my daugh-ter?
Tracks lead you on to streams of liv-ing wa-ter!
Mark well the road, that high-way for our God,
ways which you took to leave and go a-broad.
Come home, O Vir-gin Is-ra-el, re-turn-ing,
come to your sens-es, show us what you're learn-ing:
New on the earth, this Wom-an makes a start,
sets out to find a Spouse to calm the heart.
